

A New State-Backed Gold Digital Currency You Can Trust

Concerned about your money, inflation, and what economic warfare really means to you personally? America's US dollar is under attack on multiple fronts, and it will directly impact your money, your livelihood, and your way of life.

- » Foreign enemies are attempting to destroy the value of the American dollar. Russia and China know how indebted we are, and they want to make the dollar just another worthless currency. It's backed only by the full faith and credit of the United States, and they're working hard to undermine that.
- » Inflation is helping make their case. What would you do if the dollar suddenly lost half its value? Your money would be worth less and could eventually become worthless.

As the US is targeting Russia with Economic Warfare some of those same economic weapons could soon be pointed at you. Making matters worse, social credit, equity, diversity, and inclusion could all play into the next US digital dollar that is in the works. Do the wrong thing and you will be de-banked. It is critical that systems are put in place to counter these efforts!

ATTENTION:

- » THIS MAY BE THE BIGGEST IDEA YOU'VE EVER HEARD OF! IT IS HIDDEN IN THE CONSTITUTION BY OUR FOUNDERS FOR SUCH A TIME AS THIS.
- » IT MAY BE HOW WE ESCAPE TYRANNY AND PASS LIBERTY TO FUTURE GENERATIONS.
- » THERE IS A SAFE HAVEN. BE SURE TO READ THIS BRIEFING, WATCH THE EPISODE, AND SHARE WITH FRIENDS! WE MUST ACT TOGETHER AND ACT NOW!

Your Mission: To not be overrun by the new US digital dollar in development but instead, establish digital, state-issued currencies backed by gold and silver.

“You’ve heard the phrase, “it’s all about the money”. That, unfortunately, too often is true. Money does strange things to people and even stranger things to governments. He who controls the money generally controls the people.” –Kevin Freeman

Ep. 5-184 (OSINT) Open-Sourced Intelligence Report. This briefing is part of the Economic War Room teaching series exclusive with Kevin Freeman. Kevin Freeman is considered one of the world’s leading experts on the issues of Economic Warfare and Financial Terrorism. He has consulted for and briefed members of both the U.S. House and Senate, present and past CIA, DIA, FBI, SEC, Homeland Security, the Justice Department, as well as local and state law enforcement. His research has been presented in critical DoD studies on Economic Warfare, Iran, and Weapons of Mass Destruction presented to the Secretary of Defense and the Under Secretary of Defense, Intelligence. He has traveled extensively with research trips to Russia and China and throughout Europe and the Americas. He is also a Senior Fellow at the Center for Security Policy and a Contributing Editor to Tactics and Preparedness magazine.

Kevin Freeman is author of two best-selling books. His book, Secret Weapon, How US Terrorism Brought Down the US Stock Market and Why It Can Happen Again, was a New York Times Best Seller. In Secret Weapon, Kevin outlines what our enemies know and what Washington has chosen to ignore – that our financial system is profoundly vulnerable to financial terrorism. We are being targeted for further and even more destructive attacks by foreign enemies, who want to cripple America as the world’s leading economy. But we are also being attacked internally by those who want to remake America in a “Brave New World” image. If you want to protect yourself and protect our country, then you need to read Secret Weapon to understand how we have entered a new age of warfare – an age our enemies want to make the Dark Ages of the United States.

In his book, Game Plan - How to Protect Yourself from the Coming Cyber-Economic Attack, Kevin Freeman outlines the potential threats against our economy and how Americans can be prepared to protect their savings and investments. With America’s rising debt, multiple cyber economic attacks and weakening of the dollar, the potential economic threats are documented and real. What Americans see as a marketplace, our enemies now view as the battle space. Contrary to many financial newsletter and advertising claims, there is not a silver bullet to these threats and investors need to be prepared to strategically adjust. This is the first “how to” investment book of its type and provides the game plan to succeed.

Economic Warfare

“Do a quick Google search with the term ‘economic warfare,’ then click the news tab and see the results. When I looked last night, I saw 371,000 articles from just the past few weeks discussing economic warfare in one form or fashion. This is the new crisis. It’s also a new and direct threat to your liberty. Remember, at one point we were told ‘We’re in this together regarding the spread of COVID and flattening the curve.’ Then suddenly, we’re divided. Our governments weaponized the pandemic and targeted some of us who refused to comply. Now, we’re all in this together to stop Russian aggression against the Ukraine. But before you know it, the very economic warfare weapons targeting Russia could be aimed at you.” –Kevin Freeman

1. Paper Money, Inflation, and Now US Government Weaponized Money.

A potentially worthless US dollar? What’s the alternative?

Look at gold and silver coins. You may even have some as part of a collection or investment.

According to the constitution, Article 1, Section 10, these would be the only things that a state could make legal tender?

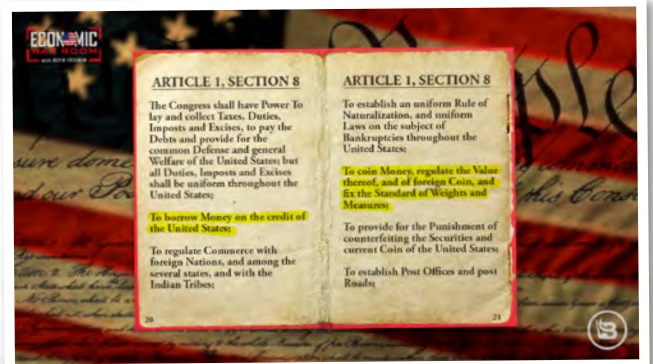

The Constitution (Article 1, Section 10) states “No state shall coin money, emit bills of credit, make anything but gold and silver coins a tender in payment of debts.”

Note: Nothing but gold and silver coins can be made legal tender by a state.

How did we get from that in the Constitution to our Federal Reserve Note version of paper money?

The answer is found in Article 1, Section 8. It says, the Federal government can borrow money on the credit of the United States. (Given our debt, you wish they didn’t put that one in there?)

- » It goes on granting the Congress the power “to coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures.”
- » That’s how we got a Federal Reserve, which was passed in 1913, and that’s how they printed notes like the $100 bill.
- » If you look at a bill, it has the signature of the Secretary of the Treasury and the Treasurer of the United States.
- » And here’s the key phrase found on a bill: “$100, the United States of America. This note is legal tender for all debts, public and private.”

That's how we got from the constitution and gold and silver coin to paper money. The Congress made it happen. So, which is better money?

Let's consider are coins better or is the paper money better?

- » Which is more convenient? Paper is more convenient and easier to carry.
- » Which preserves purchasing power better? In this case it is the gold and silver coins. In fact, some of these silver one-ounce coins are worth more than their face value in silver.
- » Which are more acceptable? Well, both are acceptable in the United States today although most people wouldn't know what to do with a gold coin if they saw it.
- » Which are more durable? The coins are more durable.
- » Which are more easily divided? As it relates to divisibility, can you take a half-ounce gold coin, into a coffee shop and buy a cup of coffee? Well, not realistically.

Historically, money has four primary functions. It's a store of value, a unit of account, a means of exchange, and a standard of deferred payments (meaning you can loan it out and get paid back later in the same form).

"Money is different all over the world. And I've got money from all over the world here. Here are, believe it or not, some Russian rubles and Canadian dollars. And here's a Zimbabwe $100 trillion bill. And here's some British money and Egyptian money, Royal Bank of Scotland, Bahamian $3 bill, £10 from Egypt. Money from all over the world. The most popular money in all the world has been the US dollar. It's the reserve currency. It's where we get the phrase "sound as a dollar". And it used to be backed by gold and silver. But Richard Nixon closed the gold window in 1971." -Kevin Freeman

Other Forms of Money:

Today, we also have other forms of money based on the dollar that include checking accounts, electronic transfers, credit cards, gift cards. There are Visa gift cards, there are other restaurant gift cards, and Apple Pay. All are different ways you can use the dollar to pay for things. And all of these work pretty well.

If you go to a foreign country though, you're going to have to use their currency, or you'll have to use a debit card or a credit card that works in their currency.

Sometimes it doesn't work all that well.

- » The Zimbabwe dollar got to the point where they were producing $100 trillion bills that weren't worth an American penny.
- » Look at the German Mark. A million Mark note from 1923. A million Marks because their currency collapsed.

"US dollars though, have worked pretty well most of my life except for the inflation, which is kind of getting crazy right now." –Kevin Freeman

2. Kevin Freeman reflects on the three major problems we have today.

A. Inflation is the worst I've felt in 40 years, which is pretty much my whole adult life. And with $30 trillion in federal debt and crazy government spending, it may get worse before it gets better.

B. The federal government has learned how to weaponize money.

"What's worse is, I'm the guy who taught them. I wrote Economic Warfare Risks and Responses for the Pentagon back in 2008/2009."

- » Our enemies are getting good at economic warfare. They're taking aim at the US dollar right now. We've laid sanctions. They look for alternatives.
- » Russia and China have been building parallel systems. They want to displace the dollar, make it worthless around the world.
- » Can they do it? I'm not sure, but they're certainly going to try. We're seeing foreign economic warfare and it's a "battle royale."

C. The government has also learned how to use economic warfare to control the people.

- » For example, banks can close customer accounts if they're doing something the government doesn't like.

- » They've done it to gun sellers and medical marijuana shops. They called it Operation Choke Point. There are limits on how much money you can deposit or take out in a day.
- » Trudeau in Canada basically said they'll cut off anybody who goes against the government. That's a part of their emergency standards. They said they could freeze your bank accounts.
- » We all know what happened with COVID. They shut down social media accounts, businesses, and more.

The good news, the Founders have given us a solution that will work, or at least if we do a tech upgrade on it before it's too late." -Kevin Freeman

Before we get to the specifics of the solution, it's important to understand the history of our US Currency.

Lessons In History - US Money and Currency.

There is a tiny phrase in the constitution to control economic warfare you must see.

- » The Founders in the Constitution offered two types of money: federal money, which was created by Congress.
- » They also allowed for state money as long as it was gold and silver coin. That's really "not a thing" these days. The states don't offer gold and silver coins. But it is in the constitution!

Eventually the federal government created the Federal Reserve, and we've had all sorts of innovation to money since then.

- » State currency was limited to gold and silver coins because of the differing values of paper money from one state to another.
- » Think of all the foreign money. Can you imagine if there were 50 different sets of money, one for every state? The Founders wanted to avoid that sort of mess.

NOTE: The Founders didn't actually grant the federal government the ability to print paper money either. They rejected a clause that would have expressly granted that power. But they also rejected a clause that would have expressly denied the power to print paper money. Thus, they left that question open.

This is from "Money and the Constitution". It says,

"Although the Constitution does not state that the federal government has the power to print paper currency, the Supreme Court in McCulloch versus Maryland (1819), ruled unanimously that the Second Bank of the United States and the banknotes it issued on behalf of the federal government were constitutional."

Where does that leave the state money idea?

The "Money and Constitution" source goes on to say,

"If the federal government only is permitted to issue money, coin, or paper, then how could state banks issue money? State banks did not coin money, nor did they print any official national currency. However, state banks could print bills of credit in exchange for specie deposits, (specie meaning gold and/or silver metal).

- » These notes would bear the issuer's bank name and entitled the bearer to the notes face value in gold or silver upon presentation to the bank.
- » State banknotes were a form of representative money. They were not gold or silver, but they represented it.
- » The notes were more convenient for conducting large transactions than their specie counterparts.
- » And more importantly for the extension of credit, they could be produced easily, whereas gold and silver stock in the nation was relatively small and for the most part declining."

KEY POINT: THE SUPREME COURT RULED IN 1837 IN BRISCOE VERSUS BANK OF KENTUCKY, THAT STATE BANKS AND THE NOTES THEY ISSUED WERE ALSO CONSTITUTIONAL.

“Now, the above may seem arcane but is in fact very relevant to solving the biggest economic warfare risks we face today. Can this tiny phrase in the US Constitution solve modern economic warfare? I believe it can.” –Kevin Freeman

3. The Solution- The Digital Texan, or Floridian, or name your state!

Let’s put two good ideas together and see if we can make something truly great for America and liberty.

A. We identified that states could make gold and silver coin to be legal tender in their state. That’s clear from Article 1, Section 10.

Now, it’s not very convenient.

- » It’s got some problems. It’s a good store of value, but it’s not a good unit of account.
- » You can’t shave off a few flakes of gold to pay for your coffee.
- » It’s not a good means of exchange.
- » It’s not precise as a standard of deferred payment.
- » It’s hard to make it divisible – Can you imagine exchanging a 10th-ounce of a gold coin at retail, expecting change?

B. What’s good for divisibility and exchange in this case? Cryptocurrency.

But Cryptocurrency alone has its problems. Let’s look at why bitcoin will never make a good currency. A state could make Bitcoin legal tender, but that has two huge problems.

- » First, Bitcoin is not a stable store of value.
  - Prices have been all over the place, down to a penny and up to as high as $60,000 a coin and then back down to $40,000. It bounces around too much, not a stable store of value.

- » But even worse, it's not allowed under the constitution as legal tender.
  - You can't make it legal tender.
  - That means every transaction you take with Bitcoin is taxed.

The SOLUTION? Have the state combine the convenience of Bitcoin (Cryptocurrency) with the constitutional provision of gold and silver coins. That would be revolutionary!

A gold-backed, state-issued currency appears to be the real legal answer!

- » Remember, under the Supreme Court's 1837 ruling in Briscoe vs. the Bank of Kentucky, states can issue representative money as long as it's fully backed by gold and silver coins. Thus, a gold-backed, state-issued cryptocurrency should be totally legal.
- » People could use gold and silver-backed cryptocurrency as money without the state. But again, it would be taxable if the gold changed value relative to paper money.
  - That makes it a non-starter because the inflation protection would be taxed away.

This is precisely why we like gold. Gold increases in value relative to paper over time. In 1970, the price of gold in America was artificially held at $35 an ounce. Recently, it's been around $2,000 an ounce. Has its value really risen that much?

WARNING: Maybe it's just that the value of our paper dollar has gone down that much.

Look at this from Investopedia, it says,

"Physical holdings in precious metals such as gold, silver, platinum, palladium, and titanium are considered by the IRS to be capital assets, specifically classified as collectibles. Holding in metals regardless of their forms such as bullion coins, bullion bars, rare coinage or ingots are subject to capital gains tax."

That would apply to gold-backed crypto as well. But consider this:

KEY POINT - IF GOLD AND SILVER CRYPTO COINS WERE USED AS STATE-BASED LEGAL TENDER, YOU AVOID THE PROBLEM. YOU DON'T PAY CAPITAL GAINS IF YOUR PAPER MONEY GOES UP OR DOWN IN VALUE. IT DOESN'T HAVE A TAXABLE IMPLICATION.

For Example: "If Gas prices ever go down again, you can buy more with your paper money, and you don't get a capital loss when gas prices go up. That's because paper money is legal tender."

The good news? A state-issued cryptocurrency would also be legal tender under the constitution if it's 100% backed by gold and silver.

This solves the three problems identified:

- » As it relates to Inflation, it potentially gives you an escape hatch.
- » If foreign enemies crater the dollar, you could have a gold-backed currency that you could move into, 100% supported by the state, protected from foreign attack.
- » Looking at Domestic Economic Warfare, Freeman believes that if we built a state-based gold and silver backed cryptocurrency, we could build in protections for people, much like a Bill of Rights.
  - Under the Constitution, you should not be deprived of property without due process. A state could prevent that by contract with anyone who used their digital, gold/silver-backed currency.

"The federal government once confiscated all public holdings of gold under FDR, but I'm not sure that they'd have the power if the gold were held as legal tender by a sovereign state." –Kevin Freeman

4. The Attempt to Destroy the American Dollar, What Your State Should Be Considering Now!

As discussed, there are multiple forms of economic warfare that we need to be prepared for:

- » The foreign form is an attempt to destroy the value of the American dollar. Russia and China know how indebted we are, and they want to make the dollar just another worthless currency.
  - It's backed only by the full faith and credit of the United States, and they're working hard to undermine that.
- » Inflation is helping make their case. What would you do if the dollar suddenly lost half its value? Your money would be worth less and could eventually become worthless.

But if we had a state-based, gold-backed cryptocurrency, you'd have a safe haven.

THE BIG IDEA: A DIGITAL TEXAN! YOUR STATE COULD HAVE SIMILAR LEGAL TENDER.

Here's an example of representation – Texas could produce a gold coin and they could issue it in the form of a digital currency, and you could use it with a debit card using blockchain technology.

ALERT: Think about how that could solve all three problems that we've encountered with economic warfare: inflation, foreign attacks on our currency, and the risk of our government trying to control our money to control us.

"Wouldn't it be great to be able to own gold and silver without having to pay capital gains tax on it? This could be a means of escape for your money." –Kevin Freeman

How it Would Work:

Here's how it would work. A state, any state – Texas, Florida, Oklahoma, New Jersey – could let you deposit money with them that they could either buy gold and silver, or you could just take gold and silver to them, and they keep it on deposit and issue coins.

- › These are not physical coins, but crypto coins that would represent the gold and silver that they held on your behalf.
- › The coins would be digital, backed up with complete records. You could spend the money just as you would with a debit card.
- › All of it would be electronic, but it would likely keep its value even during periods of inflation or currency decline just like gold and silver have done for thousands of years.

"If you want to buy a burger, you'd just take your card, swipe the card at a restaurant, and money would come out of your account and give it to the restaurant. They could keep it in gold and silver if they wanted, or they could cash it out and get paper money if they wanted. It'd be their choice." –Kevin Freeman

5. This can be done!!! Right now, you are probably asking, "Is this really possible?"

Kevin Freeman shares how this idea came together and where it stands today.

The process was started a decade ago by his Texas state representative, Giovanni Capriglione.

In 2012, Gio was running for the statehouse, knocked on his door and Kevin Freeman said, "Here's an idea." And guess what? Gio already had the idea and was planning to pursue it.

- › In 2015, Gio finally got the Texas Bullion Depository passed and you can now deposit your gold and silver with the state of Texas.
- › This is the first step in building what we call a Digital Texan.
- › We are preparing to introduce legislation in the very next session to finish the job.
- › That means fairly soon, Texas residents may be able to transact business using a brand new, state-based, gold/silver-backed cryptocurrency. Let's call it the Digital Texan.
- › It'll be as convenient as a debit card, and it should be protected from inflation and taxation.

But what if you don't live here in Texas? Number one, maybe you should move here. We've had a lot of people moving in. We love good, conservative Americans that believe in our future.

If you can't move to our great state, you should be able to follow our lead.

- » We've had opening conversations with Alaska, Utah, Oklahoma, and Florida.
- » Any American state could create their own digital coin, and we could make those digital coins interchangeable because they would all be based on ounces of gold or silver.

In this case Texas would let you use your Oklahoma coin here and vice versa, as we do with toll tags when you drive on roads. They just take it out of your account when you pay in a different state.

"There's an old Wall Street adage saying that 'money goes where it's treated best.' To me, that means that if competition is allowed, people will use whatever works best. And in the case of state-based digital currencies, I believe they'll all have to stay competitive, which means you'll benefit."—Kevin Freeman

In Texas, we are pushing for a digital currency "Bill of Rights" that would protect you from an intrusive government.

- » The state should promise to not take away your money without due process and a court order.
- » In addition, it should be none of the state's business to control your spending, cutting you off if you want to buy a large soda instead of a small one.
- » That sounds crazy. But remember, New York Mayor Bloomberg tried that once. He tried to make it illegal to buy a big soda.
- » That's the kind of nanny-state control that governments want over you and they're going to use your money to do it.

"There's no trying to control where and how you would spend your money. If we have a Bill of Rights, we're going to say, 'No, no, no' to their attempts to control you through money."—Kevin Freeman

WARNING: This is important because the Federal Reserve wants to issue a digital dollar and they've already mentioned how much they would control it, and how much control that would give over your life. President Biden issued an executive order on March 9th to make this happen.

6. Beware – A new US digital dollar is in the works that will shake the US financial system.

It includes the leftist concepts of equity, diversity, and inclusion. Are you prepared? What if a white male's money only had a 50% value but a black transgender female's money was worth 150%? That could be accomplished in the name of equity.

This is from the current issue of Wired Magazine, its title How a New Digital Dollar Could Shake the US Financial System. <https://www.wired.com/story/new-digital-dollar-could-shake-us-financial-system/>

"The Biden administration is looking into government-issued digital currency. The implications would be profound. His executive order says,

"My administration places the highest urgency on research and development efforts into the potential design and deployment options of a United States CBDC, central bank digital currency". The executive order said, "These efforts should include assessments of possible benefits and risk for consumers, investors and businesses, financial stability and systemic risk, the payment systems, national security, the ability to exercise human rights, financial inclusion, and equity – the actions required to launch a United States CBDC if doing so is deemed to be in the national interest."

"Listen very carefully what the Executive Order said. President Biden used the code words 'systemic risk, human rights, inclusion, equity.' This means that the digital dollar will be weaponized to promote diversity, equity, and inclusion, which are really leftist concepts." –Kevin Freeman

Wired Magazine went on to say, "Digital currency issued by a central bank can be used as a tool for government surveillance of citizens and control over their financial transactions. This has been a concern with China's digital currency, which is in the early stages of rollout. As Akram Karim, an expert on China at the National Endowment for Democracy wrote last year, the digital yuan, the CCP, will have direct control over, and access to the financial lives of individuals without the need to strongarm intermediary financial entities. For example, In the digital yuan consumer society, the government easily could suspend the digital wallets of dissidents and human rights activists."

The biggest difference between a digital dollar and a digital yuan and our proposed digital Texan is that the Texan, as we propose, is backed by gold and silver and would also guarantee privacy protections. That would make it more attractive, and the digital dollar would have to shape up or get left behind.

That's why this is so urgent.

ALERT: We must get the digital Texan on the playing field right now or the digital dollar will overrun us.

The good news is that we have begun the process to move this forward.

- » We're working with legislators now to get the bill going and we need your help to promote it.
- » We are rallying support from across America. Make your voice heard. Go to www.economicwarroom.com/money to learn about signing a petition to get this launched!
- » The Economic War Room® think tank is planning a summit with thought leaders to optimize the Digital Texan and we plan to build a blueprint for other states.
- » We are equipping financial advisors to understand the work ahead and help their clients develop a financial game plan that is best for them.

If you need help with this, find a good financial advisor. We will soon have a list of financial advisors who have been through our training.

Starting in May, we're training financial advisors online in an eight-week intensive course to get them up to speed to help people just like you. To learn more, nominate your financial advisor. You can do that by going to www.economicwarroom.com/advisor.

"We're building a group of incredible people who want to help their clients protect their money in cases of foreign attack or inflation or look for good investments to take advantage of some of the trends that are happening."—Kevin Freeman
