

Do We Want to Build Our Future on Past Failures or Successes?

Why is it everything seems to be about race these days? There are those purposely trying to divide America.

It used to be that America was the great melting pot. We were more than just nationality or race. We were Americans. Yet, while America has had problems throughout history, it remains the place where immigrants from around the world want to get to. Something is not adding up. How can America be this horrible place, but yet millions are coming to the US every year?

⚠ CAUTION: Ann Frank and White Privilege!
Has it really come to this?

Anne Frank accused of White Privilege?

Almost 80 years after her brutal murder for simply being Jewish, some social justice warriors want you to know that Anne Frank enjoyed white privilege. Sadly, this sort of insanity is all too common among those who are focused on skin color as the primary determinant of goodness or evil.

"This fixation is crushing our American unity, hurting our spirit, and dividing us in a time when we need to come together. No, I'm not denying the past of America, and even more so the world. We've had prejudice and racism. I'm also not denying that there are elements of prejudice operating in our world today. But come on! Anne Frank benefiting from white privilege? Sadly, the purpose of making such an assertion is an intentional effort to divide us by race. The problem is that it's hard to both acknowledge our painful past and look beyond to a hopeful future." –Kevin Freeman

How do we address racism honestly? Not as a political gimmick. Not to shame people and marginalize them. But an opportunity to bring healing and to love people past racial divisions.

Dr. Ben Carson is in the Economic War Room® to provide a critical briefing that can help heal America. He has a new book out titled, "Created Equal."

Your Mission: To learn from Dr. Carson's story about how we can better tackle America's problems through unity rather than division.

"One of the reasons that I really felt an urge to write this book is because, as anybody who's very observant has noticed, everything seems to circle back to race these days." -Dr. Ben Carson

Ep. 5-200 (OSINT) Open-Sourced Intelligence Report. This briefing includes conversations with Kevin Freeman and Dr. Ben Carson. Dr. Carson is the most famous American physician alive today. He is a world-renowned neurosurgeon, a once leading candidate for President of the United States, and the former Secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

He was raised in extremely modest circumstances, worked hard to get the best education possible, and is now one of the most famous people in the world. Dr. Carson is also a bestselling author with a new book out titled, "Created Equal".

1. Dr. Carson's New Book, Created Equal, is a Primer on Economics!

When you stop and you think about race as an issue, it really is anti-economic to look at people based on race rather than on ability, skills, and the individual.

"The race issue is used as a cudgel to beat people into submission. To make white people feel guilty, to make black people and minorities feel like victims. And all it's doing is creating division. Think about the fact that we've made enormous racial progress in this country, just in my lifetime. I mean, this country was very different when I was born. And I remember as a child, we would be so excited when a black person came on TV in a non-servile role. You called everybody into the living room, "Hey, look at this." This was great. And now in the same lifetime, you have black admirals and generals and CEOs of Fortune 500 companies and heads of foundations, university presidents, including Ivy Leagues." -Dr. Ben Carson

Note: We've elected a black United States president twice, and we now have a black vice president.

“To say that we haven't made enormous progress is absolutely ridiculous. It doesn't mean that we've reached Nirvana. We have not reached Nirvana, but we've made enormous progress. Do we want to build our future on our past failures or on our tremendous success?” –Dr. Ben Carson

2. Contributions of African Americans to Society.

We have a lot of people who maybe look at things differently, and yet that diversity all contributes to the good of the country.

In the book, Dr. Carson highlights some African Americans and the various contributions they've made that most people don't know about.

- » Like Henrietta Bradbury, inventor of the underwater cannon, so we can launch torpedoes from submarines.
- » Garrett Morgan invented the traffic light and gas masks.
- » Elijah McCoy invented the automatic lubrication system for locomotive heads and many great inventions. People would say, “Is that a McCoy? Is that the real McCoy?”
- » Even Space technology was helped along by amazing contributions from African Americans.

See even more examples in the book.

Elijah McCoy

Attention:

“There’s a wonderful thing about the God who created us. He gave every group of people fantastic brains with billions and billions of neurons, hundreds of billions of interconnections that remembers everything you’ve ever seen, everything you’ve ever heard. We can process more than 2 million bits of information in one second. And why do we need a brain like that? And why would we not use it? And, you know, you come back to something like Critical Race Theory (CRT). And they’re teaching our children that the most critical factor, the most critical determinant of what happens to you in life is the color of your skin.” –Dr. Ben Carson

Lessons from a Neurosurgeon: Your Brain is Sophisticated. It is important to use it to its potential.

Dr. Carson asks, “Do you need this really sophisticated brain to just look at the color of someone’s skin?”

- » If you look at animals, they have very big mid-brains, and the mid-brain is for reacting.
- » People don’t have such well-developed mid-brains, but they have well-developed frontal lobes.
- » Frontal lobes allow you to engage in rational thought processing, to extract information from the past, integrate it with information from the present, project it into the future, and analyze the content of character rather than just the color of skin.

The question is, why should we be teaching our children to act like animals instead of sophisticated human beings?

3. Dr. Carson Shares Some of the Challenges He Faced.

“When I was much younger, when I was a kid, it was not unusual to see blatant acts of racism occurring. You know, I was a terrible student fifth grade. I started changing that significantly in the sixth grade. By the seventh grade, I was at the top of the class.”

And as the only black student it created a little bit of a problem for some of the teachers. The kids were fine with it. They'd seen me make this metamorphosis. They knew me as Ben, not as this black kid.

And I remember when I was in the eighth grade, they give a special academic award for the student with the highest academic achievement. And I said, 'I got this.' And you would take your report card to each teacher, and they would put the grade on it. And I got to the last class. I had all A's, and the last one was band, and I was very good at band. So, I knew that was an A. And the turkey teacher gave me a C to ruin my report card. He did it to make sure that I didn't get the award. But to his chagrin, it turns out band didn't count.

I got the award anyway. And at the awards ceremony, one of the teachers got up and chastised the white kids. 'You're not trying hard enough. There's no way this black kid from a single parent home should have done better than you. And it just means that you're not working hard enough.'

Now, I don't really hold that against her. She was a product of her time, and I make that point frequently in the book. A lot of things that happen, sometimes we look at them and interpret them in very negative ways. But people tend to react based on what their life experience has been.

So, when I would go onto the ward in the hospital in 1977 as an intern, there had been very few, if any, black men on the ward in scrubs who were anything other than an orderly. So, they would say, you know, 'Mr. Jones isn't ready to be taken to the O.R. yet.'

Now, I could have gotten angry and huffy and said, 'Well, I'm a doctor.' I didn't do that. I just said, 'Well, gee, I'm sorry he's not ready to be taken to the OR. I'm Dr. Carson. I'm here to see --.' And they would turn 18 shades of red and I would be very nice to them. And I would have a friend for life; and they never made that mistake again."

4. Racism is Not Born. It Is Learned.

Look at children. They have a wonderful time with each other. And then along comes the parents to change perceptions.

*"You can't play with them. You can't do that".
You know, "We're better than those people."*

Why do adults have to do that?

Wouldn't it be nice if we all had that childlike love for each other?

That's why Jesus said in the Bible, "A little child shall lead them". Because they get so twisted as they grow up and all these things start happening and they're completely not necessary.

5. Why Dr. Carson Uses the Term "Created Equal" for His New Book.

Created Equal is often a term used by the other side to point out the racism, but Dr. Carson sees it as an opportunity to bring healing.

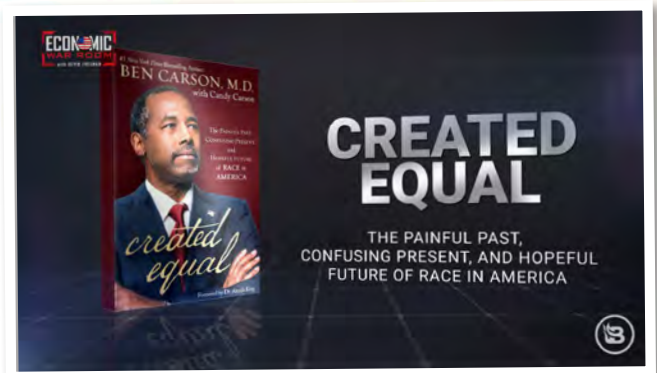

The subtitle explains it further:

Created Equal: The Painful Past, The Confusing Present, and the Hopeful Future of Race in America."

External physical characteristics that are genetically encoded are things over which no individual has control. But rather than appreciating the gift of diversity, some have chosen to use it to drive wedges between groups of people.

Some of these external characteristics are associated with the past moral failing of slavery. Though slavery in America formally ended in the 1860s, the vestiges of that evil institution are still with us today, and those vestiges often inflict guilt on some and facilitate feelings of victimhood in others.

In Created Equal, Dr. Carson uses his own personal experiences as a member of a racial minority, along with the writings and experiences of others from multiple backgrounds and demographics, to analyze the current state of race relations in America. Instead of using race as an excuse to remake America into something completely antithetical to the Constitution, Dr. Carson suggests ways to enhance and bring great success to our nation and all multiethnic societies by magnifying America's incredible strengths instead of her historical weaknesses.

Dr. Carson's goal is to shine a light on the way things are being used and manipulated in a negative way.

Case Study: George Floyd.

After the George Floyd incident, it was played 24/7 around the clock to try to make people think that this is something that occurred frequently. The Floyd incident was played around the world. And yet this is way off on the distal end of the bell curve, that kind of behavior.

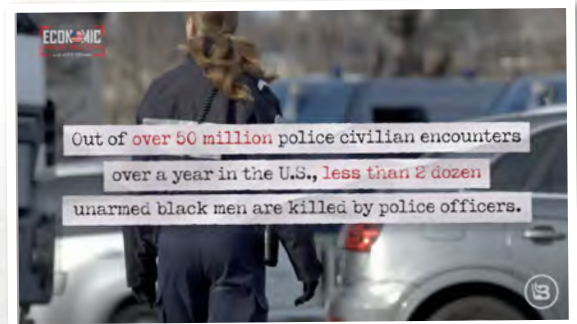

A lot of surveys have been done asking people: "How often do you think unarmed black men are killed by police officers?"

- » The results come up with astronomical numbers because that's the perception that people have.
- » The actual numbers: over 50 million police civilian encounters a year in the United States; less than two dozen unarmed black men killed by police officers.

"That's still way too many, but it's a tiny fraction of what people think it is, and it shows how rare it is." –Dr. Ben Carson

In Carson's book he talks about another case that was almost identical to the George Floyd case. It's the knee on the neck, face on the ground saying, "I'm dying. I'm going to die." And he did die. You heard almost nothing about it because the victim was a white man, and it didn't fit the narrative of systemic racism in the police force.

Look at all the black people who are killed every weekend in Chicago. No big deal, unless one of them happens to be killed by white police officers. Then it is a big deal.

6. Countering the Racist Narrative and Equipping Others to Not Be a Victim.

Victim mentality is hurting many minorities and unfortunately that is the intent.

“You’re sharing your personal history, which you’re in a unique position to do. You grew up in modest means and you’re now at the top of society. You’re very famous. You’ve been in the presidential cabinet. You know, you’re in a unique position to start this. Starting from a modest place and getting to the top of America.” –Kevin Freeman

Not fitting the narrative drives the left crazy.

“The left is not enamored of people like me, because it just flies in the face of that narrative. You know, you’re supposed to be a victim, and you’re not supposed to achieve unless we facilitate it and do things for you.” –Dr. Ben Carson

ATTENTION: For the left, it is you must think the right way. You can’t think for yourself.

“They sometimes get a little irritated with me when I say there is systemic racism in those people who say that a black person must think a certain way. Yes, that’s systemic racism.” –Dr. Ben Carson

Those on the left are not celebrating. I mean, just think of you as a boy. You’d get excited because you’d see someone with darker skin on television in a non-servile role. And here you are. You’ve achieved everything that a human can achieve, and yet they don’t want your story told. –Kevin Freeman

7. Solutions for Racial Reconciliation

Real Communication is important – Dr. Carson explains that the first thing we have to do is talk to each other rather than getting in respective corners and hurling hand grenades at each other.

“There are a lot of practical things that can be done. You know, a lot of things center around the accusation that the police are racist, and that they kill people unnecessarily, and that they particularly target black people.” –Dr. Ben Carson

We must talk about and understand what the real statistics are as it relates to police brutality.

- A. What are the real numbers? Put those out there. That makes a difference.
- B. Then we should also look at new technologies that have become available, that are safe.

- » Technology and new equipment like the BolaWrap. This is a gun. It can fire from 10 to 30 feet, and it has a coil that will go over your legs. Your legs or your arms. It works extremely well.

- » The problem with tasers is that they're only variably functional. And so, you get into a lot of problems with it.

- » With the BolaWrap, you're wrapped up, and then you can be peacefully taken away without injury to you.

Tools like these could be useful in some of the cases that have been very controversial. Those cases where the suspect was fleeing, and the police shot him in the back. Then the question comes up, is it worth his life or can you just let him go and try to find him? Well, with the BolaWrap, you got him.

“It's about American ingenuity. And what that does is it also shows that we really care about these lives, whether they're black lives, or brown lives, or white lives. It doesn't matter. That we care about our people, and we're going to try to do things in a way that preserves their life.” –Dr. Ben Carson

8. The Truth About Critical Race Theory, How the American Cornerstone Institute is Equipping Youth to Understand the Greatness of America.

In the beginning, a lot of people on the left would deny that they're teaching CRT. Today, there is so much evidence it is being taught that it cannot be denied.

"In fact, a friend of mine was telling me about his eight-year-old granddaughter who came home crying from school. Grandpa, am I evil because I'm white? Now, where do they hear that? You know, obviously. And how is that supposed to improve anything? Getting people to feel guilty and told that they're oppressors and all their relatives are oppressors. How is that supposed to improve anything?"

And telling other people that they're victims and that the system is stacked against them, and it's inherent in everything that we do and there's no way out except to change the whole system. How is that supposed to help? And obviously, it doesn't help. All it does is create resentment." –Dr. Ben Carson

Because of stories like these, the American Cornerstone Institute developed the Little Patriots program.

- » They are putting out real information about who we are, what our values are, what our history is.
- » It includes beautiful cartoons, and a new series called "Star Spangled Adventures."
- » It has history lessons in it – Dr. Carson and his team hired animators from Disney and Pixar and ABC kids. Ones that were not woke, by the way. And they've done just a beautiful job in their lessons.
- » The material is printable. If you're going on a trip, you can print it and do the crossword puzzles or all kinds of games like find the words and what they mean.
- » The materials are free thanks to sponsors that have underwritten it.

Carson explains that it's really about making education fun for the kids once again.

American Cornerstone Institute also has books for sale. Look for their newest book that's just came out in July. It's called "Red, White, and Blue. Our flag matters to me and you".

- » The story starts out with a little boy looking at a torn and tattered flag on the ground. And then Liberty Eagle, the guide, comes out and explains the significance of the red, white, and blue, the stars, the stripes, and the people who've made it possible for us to be free.
- » We should be proud when we see that flag.
- » We don't denigrate the people who want to denigrate our flag.
- » But we talk about why this is such a great nation and why you should be proud of it.

Note: All the proceeds from the books go right back into the program to underwrite it.

9. Weaponize your money in your investment, spending, and giving. Patriot Mobile shows the way!

One way to weaponize your giving is to give to American Cornerstone Institute.

“It's not just enough to say, this is bad. We need to have the alternative to bring up as well, which is again, why we brought in Patriot Mobile. We tell people all the time, weaponize your giving, spending, and investing.” –Kevin Freeman

The second way to do it is to weaponize your spending!

If you spend with Patriot Mobile and their phone plans, Patriot Mobile gives toward causes that represent Liberty, Security, and Values.

- » They've committed to buy American Cornerstone books and help distribute them.
- » Patriot Mobile is also donating the American Cornerstone Institute to help further their mission.

“We want to see this money get reinvested and reinvested. But well, I have a very nice check here from Patriot Mobile made out to the American Cornerstone Institute. We love what you guys are doing and we want to partner with you and help grow that as fast as we can, because you guys truly believe in America, and American values. And above all, you put Jesus Christ first, and we see that when you put Jesus Christ first, that everything else will happen.” –Glenn Story

KEY INSIGHTS FROM DR. CARSON: It's important that we come together.

“The American people are not each other's enemies. And the people who are trying to make us think that we're enemies are the real problem. And most of the problems that we have are self-inflicted problems. If we just learn how to work together and use logic and common sense to create the right kinds of atmospheres, we have something that everybody wants. This is still the destination country. This is still the place that people want to come when they want to be free and when they want to be prosperous. And let's make sure we keep it that way.” –Dr. Ben Carson

Why Should You Care?

- » Our history may not be perfect, but America is still the greatest place everyone wants to come to. Our true history is not being taught.
- » People and especially students are being taught a victim mentality.
- » It is important our youth and adults understand what is great about America.
- » Racism is being manipulated and used to divide America.
- » Real data is not being shared in most media; it has to meet the narrative.
- » News reports are giving a false perception of our police force.
