

Background Briefing – It’s Racial Communism, Not Black Lives Matter!

There is an effort to tear down America by breaking up our culture and leveraging racial communism even above class warfare. Marxists ideas and doctrines have been embedded in the BLM movement. Today, we see the Black Lives Matter organization purposely selling a message of division instead of bringing people together.

Bishop E.W. Jackson shares how this is really racial communism; “It is hard to push class warfare, but if you can replace that with the idea of race as the oppressive factor, then you can get ‘buy in’ even from people who have been highly successful.” Racial communism teaches that Capitalism must be destroyed and reparations must be wrenched from the oppressor.

We have seen this in executed before in Germany. In the early 1900’s, Antonio Gramsci, outlined this in The Theory of Cultural Subversion, replacing the culture of a nation with a new communist culture before people realize what’s happened.

CAUTION: Cultural Subversion is happening in America today! This is being executed in America right now as we see attempts to rewrite history and tear down America.

For your briefing, we asked Bishop E.W. Jackson to join the Economic War Room to better understand what is happening in America. Also, we need to learn more about his efforts to bring Americans together across racial and cultural lines, to preserve and defend our Judeo-Christian history, our constitution, our free market economy and our way of life.

Your Mission: To understand the real culture war that is taking place through the Black Lives Matter organization and bring America back together to protect our constitution, free market economy and Judeo-Christian values.

It sounds so good, particularly to those who don’t understand what they’re being sold. And we know that a lot of young people bought into it because it suited their interests. But it’s nothing but a poison pill. It’s the same thing under a different guise. It’s the same thing the Bolsheviks tried to sell to the Russians and ultimately did. People don’t know the word Bolshevik means Democrat –E.W. Jackson

Ep. 3-98 (OSINT) Open Sourced Intelligence Briefing with highlights. This includes quotes and summaries of conversations in the Economic War Room with Kevin Freeman featuring Bishop E.W. Jackson. Bishop Jackson is a patriot, a politician, a minister of the gospel, and a Vietnam-era Marine. Bishop E.W. Jackson is a true leader in the conservative movement. He had humble beginnings as a former foster child and today is a leader and an intellectual with an incredible grasp of the critical issues of our day. He's also a Harvard Law graduate and he was a student at the Harvard Divinity School. He's the founder and the president of STAND - Staying True to America's National Destiny.

Lessons in History:

New Harmony, Indiana - Another example of failed socialism for America

A man named Robert Owens believed that capitalism, free enterprise, and individual ownership of property was the wrong way to go. So, he created a village called New Harmony, which he was just convinced was going to produce tremendous results and demonstrate to people that private property really wouldn't work well.

He found out just the opposite. It didn't take long before he found out that people wouldn't work if they didn't earn as a result of the labor that they put in. He found out that jobs went undone because people figured out that they could do the minimum they needed to do because they could live off everyone else's resources. And after a number of years of trying, he finally gave up.

This is a quote from one of the founders of the city:

"The new arrivals 'were more of a liability than an asset.'" ^[17] "On March 20, 1819," Rapp commented, "It is astonishing how much trouble the people who have arrived here have made, for they have no morals and do not know what it means to live a moral and well-mannered life, not to speak of true Christianity, of denying the world or yourself." ^[18] https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/New_Harmony,_Indiana

Robert Owen's son, after his father's death, said that the system didn't work. But this shows that the attempt goes all the way back to the administration of John Adams when it was tried. There were people trying to convince the nation that private property, free enterprise, individual liberty, ownership of property was the wrong way to go. And they've never given up the quest to destroy private individual responsibility in America.

1. Black Lives Matter is following the Marxist Playbook in order to tear families apart.

"From my perspective, black lives matter because all lives matter. Therefore, black lives, brown lives, white lives, yellow lives. If you want to use skin color as the as the measure, they all matter. But this organizational entity called Black Lives Matter is not at all about saving black lives." -E.W. Jackson

- Since the death of George Floyd, dozens of black lives have been tragically taken and many of them children without BLM saying anything.
- Recently, a one-year old was shot dead in New York. In the crossfire, several three-year-olds, a 10-year-old, several young teenagers, and one girl were shot dead, sitting in her home watching television by the bullets flying through our house.

"None of these murders were committed by police. And so Black Lives Matter is silent on all of this, which means they're not interested in black lives." -E.W. Jackson

What is BLM (the entity) really interested in?

- They're interested in an incident that they can exploit politically to convince people that everything that they are selling is valid and should be embraced.
- If you go to their website, you see what they're embracing. A lot of Marxist ideas. They want to do away with the nuclear family. They want to press transgenderism and same-sex marriage.
- They've got this whole sexual agenda, which really has nothing to do with Black Lives.

"People don't realize that all of that comes out of the Marxist playbook because Karl Marx and his followers believed that you had to separate children from their families. Karl Marx, didn't believe in family, didn't take care of his own. He didn't think it was his responsibility. He thought the state ought to be doing that. And so Black Lives Matter is in favor of all of that. And frankly, the last thing the black community needs is something that's going to undermine family because the breakdown of the family is the biggest social problem the black community faces right now." -E.W. Jackson

2. With traditional Marxism not selling, it has become Racial Communism. We are opening the window to see what is really going on today with Black Lives Matter.

KEY INSIGHT BELOW - BISHOP JACKSON PROVIDES INSIGHTS TO WHAT HE SEES REALLY HAPPENING WITH RACE RELATIONS

A. Why Marxism does not work well in America and how the playbook is now being changed to create conflict.

"I think this is one of the most profound insights that we as Americans can have and it will it will open up a window to help us see what's really going on." -Bishop E.W. Jackson

- Marxism doesn't really work well in America because it depends upon the idea that you have this underclass that was oppressed, that was poorly paid, that was struggling, and you have this vast, wealthy class that has all the resources, all the goods. They're exploiting all the workers. And they are the only ones who are doing well. Everybody else is suffering.
 - You come to the United States of America where guess what? You've got a large middle class of people who start poor like me. I came from a broken home raised in foster care. But I've experienced the very best this country has to offer and I'm just one of millions.
 - "It's hard to convince people that we need a violent revolution to rescue you from your horrible condition. My condition is not horrible, and most Americans are living quite well."
 - If you can replace that with the idea of race as the oppressive factor, then you can get buy-in even from people who have been highly successful.
 - Now you can get buy-in from wealthy people. You get LeBron James, you can get Oprah Winfrey, you can get Barack Obama, you can get Colin Kaepernick, who have experienced the very best this country has to offer and probably experience more wealth and influence than almost any American of any race will ever experience in their lives.

- o If you can convince them that race is really the issue, then you can get buy-in on the basis of emotion and irrationality without any reference: "Well, how are you actually doing in life?" "Oh, that doesn't really matter. You know that. Oh, I'm wealthy. So what? I'm still oppressed."

"You actually have the anomaly, the incongruity of somebody like a Barack Obama running around like he's an oppressed person. I mean, the leader of the free world talking about how oppressed he is, and claiming most people are against him because of his race. Yet, he got voted into office in the United States of America." -Bishop E.W. Jackson

B. It is not about class warfare, it is about poisoning people's minds and culture – Race and conflict is the new class warfare:

- Forget class. What you need is something that you can get to poison people's minds and culture.
- Race is much more potent because now you can convince people, no matter what their station in life, that there's still oppressed on the basis of their skin color.
- Race is the new class warfare and conflict is the new class warfare. So, you use that to tell people that we're all oppressed.

"But the new bourgeoisie, the new owners of the means of production are not the people who own corporations. Instead, they're all white people. All white people are the oppressors. All white people are the exploiters. And you get the same result (the basis for a Marxist insurrection)." -E.W. Jackson

C. Using these levers of power is more powerful, because there is a perception of truth by exploiting some of America's history.

- The demagoguery works, because you can exploit the history of the country and say, well, we know this is true because look at slavery. We know this is true, look at Jim Crow. You keep people looking in the rearview mirror rather than looking at their present circumstances and the potential of that they have for their future.

- I have spoken with people all over the country, audiences of various demographics and backgrounds. Look, it's not what you perceive or was real about what was done to your ancestors that you should be obsessed with. You should be obsessed with what God wants to do with you, what your potential is, what your future is, and what you can do in the greatest nation on Earth.

"I believe anybody in America who makes up their minds to do something positive with their lives can do it. They're going to accomplish wonderful things in life." -E.W. Jackson

3. How do-gooder liberals are often the worst kind of racist. Bishop E.W. Jackson shares his story of who really tried to put him down.

"While America does have a racial history, there is decency and opportunity in America for all who want to make something and do something with themselves."

'The worst and most racist incidents I have experienced have really come from would be do-gooders, liberals who were condescending and who basically handicapped me before I could even get started.'" -Bishop E.W. Jackson

Beware of the double standard from liberal racism.

CASE STUDY:

Going to law school and being told to manage expectations down.

"When I got ready to go to law school, I knew I wanted to go to Harvard. Well, Harvard Law School is not easy to get into. But I was a straight-A student in college. I graduated summa cum laude. I won the Phi Beta Kappa Key. And when I went to my professors for letters of recommendation, they said to me, 'Don't try to go there. You don't really want to try to get in Harvard Law School because, you know, the LSAT tests are geared against black people. Black people don't do well on them. You should lower your sights and try to get into an easier school. We don't want you to be disappointed.'

Now, I am not exaggerating. I heard that. I was told that. I was fortunate to have been raised by a strong father who taught me, 'Don't let anybody tell you what you can't do. You go out there and you work your backside off and you go for what you want. And just do it just and don't come back to me with excuses.' And so, when I was told that, it just made me that much more determined."

And of course, not only did I and forgive me, I but not only did I get into Harvard Law School, I got into Yale. I got to Columbia, I got at the University of Virginia. I got into every law school I applied to. And they were telling me, 'don't try the top schools.' But I got into all the top schools!"

Getting funding for a business deal – the racial prejudice pedigree:

"And then another time I was trying to do a business deal. I was running a radio station and I went to Harvard to talk to the real estate manager for Harvard looking for space to build an antenna. And I knew they had plenty of space and they might help me. And so, I walked into the guy's office and I sat down. He knew what I wanted, and he says to me, 'I want you to know that I marched with Dr. King.' And I went, Oh, brother. Here we go. Because really what he was saying was, 'I'm not going to help you, but I've got racial prejudice pedigree, you see. I'm a good guy racially. So, I'm not going to help you with your business. But I want to pat you on the head as my little pet and let you know that I was there to help your people get free.' I mean, it was so condescending and so disgusting. That's what I've experienced more than anything else."

Most of the people I've experienced in America are just decent people who treat you like an individual. Now, I'm not saying the country doesn't have a racial history. Obviously, it's it does. But I am blessed to be able to say that the country I've experienced, I found mainly just decent people. You treat them with respect. They treat you with respect. They want to give you a fair opportunity.

"My father used to tell me this, 'Son, when people find out that you want to make something of yourself and do something with your life, help will come from the most unexpected places.' And I found that the American people have not disappointed me, that some of the most wonderful people have I ever want to meet anywhere as I've traveled this country." –Bishop E.W. Jackson

4. America is still the Land of Opportunity and our Republic works better than all the other socialist options that lead to Tyranny.

- The Founding Fathers didn't set up a system that enshrined power in their hands. They set up a system in which power would be passed from one person to another. No one would have absolute power. There would be checks and balances.
- It's the same system that produced the first black president in the history of the country. If we don't let them take it away from us, it'll produce others. It will produce a woman president at some point. The American people will decide who they want, and they will vote for that person. We have a wonderful system. Socialism has always produced absolute tyranny over the individual.

"Unfortunately, today if you've invoked the Founders and the founding principles, that, of course, is considered racist in itself. That's why we have to tear down all these statues. 'The Founders were all bad, all racists, all whatever.' But the reality of it is that they're trying to remove our history, because if they can remove our history and only focus on the bad parts of it, they'll be able to take over our society. And that's what we're seeing taking place today." –Bishop E.W. Jackson

5. STAND – Bringing Americans together across racial and cultural lines to preserve our Judeo-Christian history and values and also, our constitution, our free market economy and our way of life.

- STAND was founded by Bishop Jackson and is about bringing American's together.
- While Black Lives Matter is selling a message of division, we're bringing people a message of unity and one nation under God.
- To get involved can go to the website, www.StandAmerica.US
- There are now coordinators across the country in 30 states. STAND wants to have all 50 states covered.

Why you should care?

- America needs to STAND together as a country. It is important to be like our founding fathers and recognize the threat and stand for what is right and true.
- We need prayer for healing across racial and cultural lines and that we get back to our founding of "One Nation Under God."
- There is a culture threat that has infiltrated every institution.
- You believe All Lives Matter no matter what skin color, and you recognize that no one is really speaking up about all the black deaths in communities across America.
- People are afraid of being called a racist, so they are even afraid to address what the BLM movement really stands for.
- You understand the organization Black Lives Matter is not interested in Black Lives.
- The Black Lives Matter Organization is hijacking the black community in order to lead with a message of radical conflict, Marxism, and a sexual agenda.
- The BLM goal is to tear families apart as part of their Marxist founding.
- BLM is a movement to divide and not unite the country.
- Despite this, corporations are donating millions of dollars to this organization in order to appear politically correct.
- There is a disinformation campaign to poison people's minds and destroy our culture.
- Race and conflict are now the new class warfare.
- America needs to STAND together.
