

Parallel Economies – Economic Civil War

Many science fiction novels have predicted a grim future where the masses live in invisible chains. Since those books became classics, the Western world has hurdled down those dystopian tracks like a runaway train.

Woke culture has begun to destroy the values and rights that make America great. Without those values, America will lose the guiding principles that have inspired generations to build a better future. Without that inspiration, the nation will collapse and what was once fiction will become our reality. We must act quickly to build a parallel economy and culture, that holds fast to the traditional American values, which can weather this woke storm and become the foundations of our nation's future.

In this briefing we will discuss the following:

- » Woke Authoritarianism
- » EveryLife – Saving Babies One Diaper at a Time
- » PublicSq.com – The Patriotic Marketplace
- » Challenging Titans – Taking on Amazon

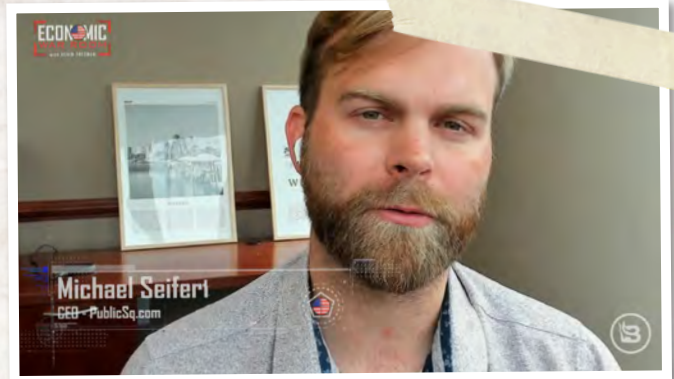

YOUR MISSION: Learn about the economic civil war and how patriotic Americans are using their money to fight for liberty.

⚠ ATTENTION: You are not alone! Many American patriots are fighting to preserve American values through boycotts, investments, and now new consumer opportunities.

Ep. 7-270 (OSINT) Open-Sourced Intelligence Report. This briefing includes a conversation between Kevin Freeman and Michael Seifert. Michael is a friend of the Economic War Room® and an American Patriot.

Michael Seifert is the Founder, CEO, and President at PublicSq. Michael is a recognized thought leader in the areas of business development, politics, and culture. Michael has a proven track record of growing businesses with past experience as the head of marketing for a notable recreational equipment firm with over $1 billion in assets and $3 billion in sales. He also has a proven track record for leadership as the Executive Director of the University Program for one of the most successful non-profit organizations in the United States.

1. Woke Authoritarianism

The world has gone Woke. Globalist elites have pushed their agenda deep into corporate America. Disney, Target, Budweiser, and many other firms have brought woke nonsense into their business practices.

While these companies are customer-facing and their woke products are easily spotted, many other companies fund the woke agenda through advertising on social media, or even more directly by donating profits to fund abortions or political campaigns.

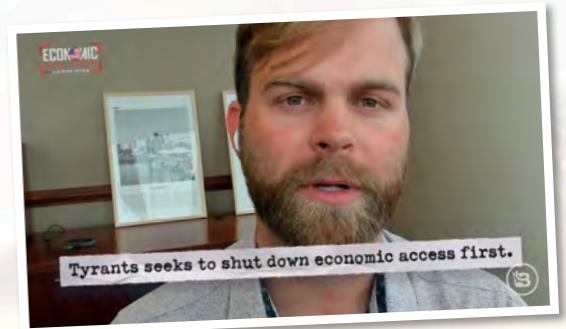

“We’re sick of the idea that we have to walk through the pride parade. But beyond that, we’re concerned that the money that we’re putting into these corporations and these businesses is going to then be turned around and invested in things that will put books in school libraries that we know are going to destroy our kids’ values. It’s going to support and fund the next drag queen story time, or it’s going to fund something that’s going to silence Christians. A lot of this money has gone into social media companies that then, through advertising, cut off our free speech rights.”—Kevin Freeman

This is all part of the globalist elite's plans to gain control over the people. They are whittling down American values slowly. Like a frog in water that is brought to a boil, many Americans are unaware that they are about to lose everything.

With a short study of history, it is clear what is happening. A small group of elites has conspired to strip the public of their rights so they can become more powerful and wealthy.

“Every authoritarian society, over the course of the last 150 years, with the emergence of ideologies like Marxism or communism, has always gone after your economic access first. If they can shut down your ability to engage in the economy because you disagree with the political views of the regime, they have stolen your freedoms. You look at China today, you see the social credit score, you look at Stalinist Russia. You saw what they did to anybody who had a private enterprise that would dare misalign themselves with the government. That is the future that we can sadly look forward to, unless we have a parallel of companies in this economy that will rise up and say, enough is enough. We're not simply pandering to the values of the regime. We're going to do something different and stand for the classic American values that made our country so special in the first place.”—Michael Seifert

In the face of tyrannical authoritarianism, it is essential that We the People fight back. We must do so by developing a parallel economy that holds fast to the values that made America great.

For this to work, this parallel economy must be adopted by as many people as possible to show the enemy that we will stand strong as we stand together.

⚠ Attention: Authoritarianism has reared its ugly head once again through woke corporations. It is up to American patriots to resist them and build a brighter future for America.

2. EveryLife – Saving Babies One Diaper at a Time

Michael Seifert and his wife discovered a terrifying truth after the overturning of Roe v Wade.

Multiple companies were coming out in support of abortion and were even offering to pay for their employees to get abortions. Shockingly, some of these companies included companies that make baby products like diapers.

These companies were spending money to prevent the birth of a new customer in their own industry. They are quite literally funding the death of their own customer base.

“You had companies like Coterie, which calls themselves the Rolls-Royce of diapers, say that their team feels, ‘lost without abortion.’ You had Hello, Bello say that they were actually going to fund their employees’ abortions... My wife and I were having our first child, so we thought, let’s create an alternative. We spun up a team of direct-to-consumer experts and created EveryLife. If you go to EveryLife.com, you’ll find the nation’s only pro-life, pro-family, diaper and baby care company, and it’s been phenomenal to witness it grow. Our manufacturers just reached out last week and said, hey, you’re actually the fastest-growing diaper brand we’ve seen in modern history. So, the desire for pro-life with positive message products has never been more evident and clear.” –Michael Seifert

Michael and his wife started EveryLife as a pro-life diaper company and they have seen exceptional growth.

The reality is the market is ripe for conservative companies who are willing to stand up for what is right and hold to the values of the US Constitution and the nation’s Founders.

This Woke nonsense has destroyed the trust relationships that people once shared with American companies.

That trust can be restored by true patriots like Michael who saw a need and was willing to take risks and learn how to build a company on American values.

If more American patriots take action and build businesses that challenge the Woke nonsense in the mainstream, there will be hope for the future of our nation.

⚠ Attention: Companies are actively destroying their bottom line for the Woke agenda, now is the opportune time to challenge the woke companies with a patriotic parallel economy.

3. PublicSq.com – The Patriotic Marketplace

Over the last ten years, it has become increasingly obvious that our nation's once bright and powerful economy has been infected.

Corporate America, as it once was, is no more. The Woke virus has suffocated once iconic businesses. This virus will destroy the American economy, and the people who participate in it if we do not fight back.

“I started to witness the demise of corporate America, largely due to the preaching of progressive political values, instead of focusing on providing quality products and services... Companies like Starbucks came out and announced that they would be matching employee contributions to Planned Parenthood... Target or Walmart started to talk more and more about progressive gender ideology, rather than on providing products and services to their consumer base... the antagonization against companies like Chick-fil-A or Hobby Lobby. You began to see this economic civil war emerge. And in that process, I noticed very clearly, largely because I'm a part of this market I'm about to describe, an emerging network of millions of Americans that were increasingly fed up with feeling like we were getting lectured about gender ideology every time we were trying to simply buy a pair of pants.” –Michael Seifert

Instead of being afraid, Michael Seifert saw this as an opportunity to build an even better future. As the failing companies of America's past crumble due to the woke rot that has spoiled their foundations, new patriotic companies can rise to prominence and strip those companies of their market share.

Michael realized that most patriotic Americans were choosing to boycott woke companies. Sometimes this was easy with good alternative products and services, but sometimes it is quite difficult to find a good alternative.

The need was clear, Americans needed a way to find good patriotic alternatives to the companies they wanted to boycott.

In 2021 Michael started with a list of about 23 businesses that he and his wife felt proud supporting. That list quickly grew and became the new online marketplace known as PublicSq.com (Public Square).

Today, Public Square boasts over 70,000 vendors who provide great products and services and adhere to the Public Square standards of patriotism.

Not only are these businesses patriotic, but many of them are also small businesses and family-owned businesses, many of which struggled due to Covid lockdowns.

“These are the family-owned and operated businesses that make our economy so special. All of them have aligned with our set of core values that help consumers know with blessed assurance they’re not funding their opposition, but instead, they’re funding businesses that love the country, the Constitution, and the values that wonderful document protects. It’s a really powerful, alternate, parallel ecosystem that’s being created, and it’s emerging at a rapid rate. We hit a million consumer members on our platform faster than Twitter, Airbnb, Spotify, etc. Our growth has been on par with Facebook in the early days, largely because this network effect driven by the solution is so exciting to consumers. There are millions of Americans just like you and just like me, and just like so many of your viewers who are ready to do something proactive and positive with our money. And it’s working.” –Michael Seifert

The incredible growth of Public Square is evidence of the opportunity created by the failure of Woke Corp.

The American people, and many others around the world are looking for great companies to invest in and to support with their money. People have money to spend, and they are looking for places they deem worthy of their business.

How do you find such businesses? Michael and his team at Public Square have developed metrics that they use when vetting the vendors on their platform.

“One of the boxes that we ask businesses to check before they’re able to join the platform is to commit to making or sourcing as many of their products from the United States as possible. Now, we understand that that’s easier for some industries than it is for others... but we’re asking businesses to do their best, and we will help businesses toward that goal. In fact, we’ve helped businesses shift their manufacturing toward our shores, already over the course of the 18 months since we’ve launched this platform nationwide. One important point here is that we see this as a journey. Ultimately, just like it took the globalists decades to decimate American manufacturing, unfortunately, it will take decades to repair it.” –Michael Seifert

Using these metrics, Public Square is able to provide customers with peace of mind, knowing that their money is supporting patriotic Americans and the building of the American economy.

⚠ Attention: Public Square has proven that the American people long for good products and services that are produced and provided by patriotic Americans.

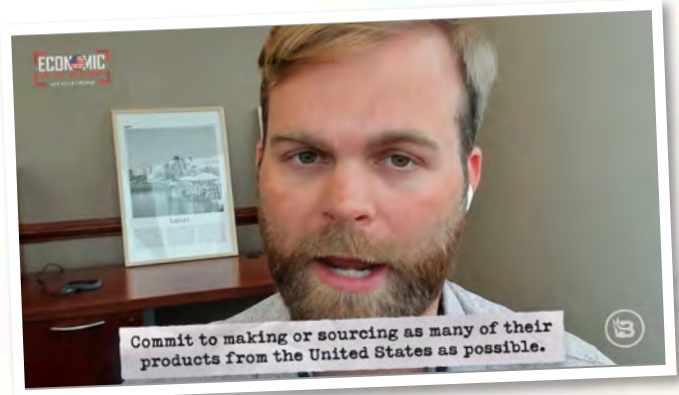

4. Challenging Titans – Taking on Amazon

Public Square’s success is not only exciting because of the impact it can have on the US economy, or the opportunity that it provides for customers to spend their money in places they can trust, it also stands as a true contender for Amazon.

Amazon currently stands as the online shopping Titan. It covers almost every category of goods on the market. But it is a woke company known for its abuse of warehouse workers and questionable business practices.

“I don’t think most people realize that when you go to Amazon, the products that are found, they’re often found there by small businesses and offered by small businesses... But then Amazon analyzes all the shopping patterns and monitors every single user and determines maybe they could source that less expensively somewhere else, charge the same fee, and Amazon makes the product. So, they’re basically using small businesses to develop and incubate business ideas for them that they then steal and run with on their own. It really is a nasty business model.” –Kevin Freeman

Many patriotic Americans have wanted to boycott Amazon, but there was no solid alternative. Public Square has stepped into that market opportunity and is providing vendors with a better option for an online marketplace.

As Public Square grows, small businesses will shift away from Amazon as they know they will be treated well at Public Square.

“If you head to publicsq.com, you can begin your browsing. We’ll never ask you for money. You don’t have to sign up for a premium membership in order to access all the goodies of the platform. It’s come one, come all. You join the platform as a consumer and you’re able to browse and partake in the transaction experience with various companies you’ll find on the platform. You can also download the app from the App Store or Google Play. We wanted to make this very user-friendly and accessible to all sorts of consumers. If you are a business, you can add your business for free and you’ll go through about a three-step process that takes a few minutes. Our team will then vet that profile, and we can generally turn that around in about 24 hours. It’s a seamless experience and we’d love to have you a part of it.”–Michael Seifert

As money is siphoned away from Amazon and into the Public Square platform and its vendors, there will be even more evidence that the American people do not want woke companies with unethical business practices.

The only way to defeat this Woke beast is to starve it of nutrients. Money fuels every economy. If we wield this tool properly, by better assessing our giving, spending, and investing, we can win the economic war for our nation and for the entire Western world.

 Attention: Public Square is an incredible opportunity for American businesses and patriotic consumers who want to use their money to build a better America and a brighter future.
