

Property Wars: The Natural Asset Scam

Private property rights and land ownership were considered essential ingredients for the success of the American Experiment. The opportunity for individuals to build wealth and develop the productivity of their land provided the nation with unprecedented levels of prosperity. Ingenuity and innovation tend to follow freedom and ownership. Those who have the freedom to imagine and have the authority to act on their dreams are far more likely to develop new technologies and improve their own lives and the lives of those around them.

These principles guided the American economy as ordinary people made names for themselves and became heroes of innovation and trade. However, the globalist elites have always sought to strip the people of their property. In their mission to control the whole world, their primary opposition is the private property rights of the American people.

In this briefing we will discuss the following:

- » Private Property Rights
- » The Natural Asset Company Scam
- » Fighting Back – The People’s Voice

YOUR MISSION: Learn about the new threat to private property rights, the Natural Asset Company scam, and what you can do to prevent it.

⚠ ATTENTION: America’s natural resources and the property rights of the American people are under attack!

Ep. 7-275 (OSINT) Open-Sourced Intelligence Report. This briefing includes a conversation between Kevin Freeman and Frank Gaffney. Frank is a friend of the Economic War Room® and an American Patriot.

Frank Gaffney is the Founder and Executive Chairman of the Center for Security Policy in Washington, D.C., a not-for-profit, non-partisan educational corporation established in 1988. Under Mr. Gaffney's leadership, the Center has been nationally and internationally recognized as a resource for timely, informed, and penetrating analyses of foreign and defense policy matters.

Mr. Gaffney is the host of Secure Freedom Radio, a nationally syndicated radio program heard weeknights throughout the country. He is an associate author of highly acclaimed Sharia: The Threat to America and the publisher of over a dozen other books and monographs from the Center for Security Policy Press.

1. Private Property Rights

Private property rights are an essential building block of American culture. Without this simple yet once-revolutionary concept, the American experiment would never have been so successful.

The brilliance of private property rights is that people are more productive and more creative when they have ownership or potential ownership of their work or land.

It was private property rights that inspired the American people to travel west and settle the continent. The opportunity for land ownership inspired young families to take great risks for greater rewards.

Later, the land owned by the American people was developed. This fueled American industry and turned the nation into an economic powerhouse in the late 19th century as natural resources provided fuel and factories developed better technologies.

“The World Economic Forum, along with the United Nations, has unveiled plans to remove property rights from individuals. I know that’s a bold statement, but it’s fully aligned with their own words, which they declared that by 2030 you would ‘own nothing and you will be happy.’ The nation was founded on private property rights... this is emphasized in our Constitution, which includes property instead of happiness in the Fifth and 14th Amendments. Life. Liberty. Property. The founders and our Constitution equated private property rights with the pursuit of happiness and declared it the government’s job to protect both.” –Kevin Freeman

The World Economic Forum’s threat is no joke. These plans have been in the works for decades.

America has from the beginning served as the greatest threat to plans for global domination. The American people actually believe in freedom and the US Constitution properly defines and protects the fundamental building blocks of Liberty.

The Founding Fathers understood the need for private property rights and crafted the Constitution to protect those rights and the people who would require them.

Without private property rights, people would not be free from aristocratic tyranny. Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness both depend on the right to private property for every citizen.

Attention: Private Property Rights are essential for the preservation of Liberty, and they are under attack!

2. The Natural Asset Company (NAC) Scam

It comes as no surprise that the building blocks of liberty are the primary target of the globalist elite.

Sadly, the same government that James Madison designed to protect the property rights of the people has been hijacked and is being used against us.

The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) has been working with the Intrinsic Exchange Group (IEG) to develop a plan for new Natural Asset Companies.

The claim is that these companies would be able to purchase and lock up land for environmental purposes.

“The SEC has, historically, given you long comment periods on minor changes and minor issues. Here, there was a truncated comment period on an issue where they’re completely redefining the purpose of a corporation. The purpose of a corporation is to produce profit for the shareholders. They’re, in essence, taking a non-profit purpose, actually a scam version of a nonprofit, and making it to where you can invest in it... These natural asset companies would not qualify under any definition of a proper corporation. And they’re taking land that already exists. It’s already doing whatever carbon offset, you know, trees are taking in carbon dioxide and producing oxygen. They’re already doing it, and they’re turning it into a place where you could gamble, bet on, invest in. They claim, but this is a complete scam.” –Kevin Freeman

The land to be locked up is already land that is doing what it is supposed to do naturally. Forested areas are already absorbing CO2 and producing Oxygen.

Not only is it nonsense for these companies to own nature and profit from its processes (which are currently free for all to enjoy at present) but it is also nonsense for them to capitalize an intangible product.

The clean air produced by trees cannot be accurately measured, only estimated. The possible deforestation, fracking, construction, etc. that could happen on that land can also not be properly accounted for.

As a result, the government plans to develop new accounting practices (based on UN standards) with which to account for the value of these Natural Asset Companies and the expected “positive” impact they will supposedly have on the environment.

“This was born of an agenda adopted by the United Nations decades ago. They called it at the time, the 30 by 30 program. And what that meant was that 30% of the world’s land and water and air and so on would be remanded to a pristine state permanently by governments of the world. Over time, they changed it to the Agenda 2030 sustainable program. The point of it is the underlying idea that you’d have companies that don’t earn money being valuable, which is, let’s face it, simply alchemy, you know, making the air monetized. They had to have an accounting system that would go along with it. And the UN helpfully came up with one of those two, which basically just kind of imputes value to these natural resources, even though they can’t be tapped in the traditional ways.” –Frank Gaffney

This accounting system grants value to the production of air. Unlike the people of “Thneedville” (The Lorax), who lived in such extreme pollution that O’Hare was able to sell bottled air, we live in a world with trees where the production of clean air in nature is free and incredibly effective.

Buying stock in these Natural Asset Companies would be part of one more money-making scam for the financialization of our nation. This would empower the rich to get richer and could eventually lead to the American people being forced to pay for clean air.

To see the scam for what it is, one must simply look at its roots. IEG and the SEC are joint venture partners in the development of this new class of assets.

This is a conflict of interest as the SEC is responsible for ensuring that investment opportunities and transactions are appropriately handled. If the SEC is involved in the development of new assets, they will be less inclined to investigate fraud and other crimes in that area.

Natural Asset Companies are a scam. But how do they challenge private property rights?

Since these companies would easily have federal support from the Biden Administration, they would lock up federal lands, much of which is not supposed to be controlled by the Federal government but by the states and the people of the states who reside in those lands, as described in Episode 248.

These companies could also get federal support to force people to sell land or even force people to leave their land so they can lock it up.

If the land you own can be stripped from you and locked up so the natural resources can no longer be tapped, then liberty and the pursuit of happiness cannot be secured.

On top of this personal threat to the American people, foreign powers are keen to see Natural Asset Companies become a reality in the US.

This is because it would allow them to invest in the locking down of American lands and ensuring that America's natural resources remain untapped. This would cripple our economy and our industrial capability.

“Why would China want to be the owners of one or more of these natural asset companies? Well, the answer is obvious. They would like nothing better than to lock down and essentially deprive the United States of much of its natural wealth. I mean, the bounty God gave this country. Imagine... the strategic value to enemies of this country is very considerable. And consequently, I think you may well see not only the Chinese, taking ownership positions in these companies, but the Russians, perhaps. Certainly, the Saudis, maybe the Iranians. And once they are in a position to control what uses are made of any of these particular pieces of land or the waterways or even the air it’s really just a matter of time until they are able to begin intruding on other parts of our real estate in ways that are detrimental to this country, whom they seek to destroy.” –Frank Gaffney

Attention: Natural Asset Companies are not just a scam or a threat to the rights of the American people, they are also a threat to national security.

3. Fighting Back – The People’s Voice

Thankfully, there is a window of opportunity to resist the encroaching doom designed by these globalist elites.

“The Securities and Exchange Commission has under review this proposed rule from the New York Stock Exchange and this Intrinsic Exchange Group. They’ve given us an extension, thank you very much, to the 18th of January, the opportunity to comment. We need everybody who is in the Economic War Room® and everybody else in our country who loves this place to get on the net to tell the Securities and Exchange Commission. Forget about it. And we’ve created a platform... an align Act campaign can be found at www.SovereigntyCoalition.Org. With a click of a mouse, you can fill in the form for the comments to the SEC. You can also send a comment, and we’ve pre-scripted one, if you want to use it, to your representatives in Congress, because they need to become engaged as well. So that’s what we need to be doing at the federal level.” –Frank Gaffney

This window for comment grants the American people an opportunity to challenge this nonsense before it becomes a reality.

With your help we can shut down the Natural Asset Company threat before it does any damage.

However, the Federal level is not the only battleground we have available to us.

“I think this is a fraud issue. I think that if the SEC gives a pass on calling it a fraud, the states can use their accounting rules, their provision under the Constitution. They have authority and power here, and they can literally call these things fraud. I think there could be Rico suits against them because they’re conspiring to deprive Americans of property without due process. And so, I think there’s all kinds of things we can do, and we’ve got to fight back because our money, our pensions, etc. are being used against us. This is an economic war. What we see as a marketplace (meaning in this case Wall Street), our enemies see as a battle space. And they’re using it against us. This is a 1776 moment.” –Kevin Freeman

If the Federal level plans fall through and the people are ignored by the SEC, the States can protect the rights and property of their people.

⚠ Attention: There are multiple ways to resist this attempt at tyranny, but the earlier this beast is slain, the better it will be for the American people.
