

FIGHTING BACK: THE NATION

Debt, a dollar under siege, programmable money, a widening wealth gap, collapsing family formation, and an open door to invasion. Most Americans experience these as six separate crises, argued in six separate fights. They are not. Each one traces to a single root: August 15, 1971, the day America walked away from the last link between its money and gold. Fix the root and every branch gets easier. Leave the root and every branch grows back.

This briefing is the national half of the counterattack laid out in The Four Horsemen of the American Apocalypse and Our Six Trials by Fire: a constitutional commitment to sound money, a specific fix for each of the six trials, a direct counterstrategy for each horseman, and three institutions built to make it all stick. Awareness that never turns into action is just a more informed way to lose. This is the action.

In this briefing we will discuss the following:

- » One Root, Six Branches: Why Sound Money Is the First National Solution
- » Six Trials, Six Fixes: The National Solutions Every Legislator Should Be Handed
- » Three Institutions and One Verse: Building What Lasts for Our Children's Children

YOUR MISSION: Learn the national solutions to all six trials, every one of them traced to a single root. Then put them in front of someone with the power to act, starting with your own state representative.

WHY YOU SHOULD CARE

- » Six crises, one cause. The Debt Bomb, the Dollar Under Attack, Programmable Money, the Wealth Gap, Demographic Destiny, and the Endgame all trace to the abandonment of sound money in 1971, which is why fixing them one at a time keeps failing.

- » The bill is addressed to your grandchildren. Federal debt went from about $400 billion in 1971 to over $40 trillion today, because once the discipline of gold was removed, spending expanded without limit.
- » The sound-money door is already open. Pirate Money is law in six states, 76.5% of Texas Republican primary voters backed it, gold and silver became legal tender in Texas on September 1, 2026, and enabling legislation is pending in up to 20 more states.
- » A ban on programmable money is only as permanent as the next executive. President Trump's executive order banning a CBDC was the right move, but only a constitutional prohibition, backed by state-level opt-outs, makes it stick.
- » Three institutions are open to join today. The NSIC Institute, SCAN, and the Economic Justice Board turn awareness into action at scale, and the one Charlie Kirk asked for only gets built if citizens join it.

1. One Root, Six Branches: Why Sound Money Is the First National Solution

Every one of the six trials traces to a single date: August 15, 1971, the day America closed the gold window and abandoned the last link between the dollar and gold. Follow the branches back and they all reach the same root. No gold meant no discipline on spending; that is the Debt Bomb. No anchor meant every rival could shop for a new reserve currency; that is the Dollar Under Attack. Money that is already just a number in a computer is Programmable Money. New money created from nothing enriches whoever stands closest to the printing press; that is the Wealth Gap. A family priced out by a debased dollar is Demographic Destiny. And a house divided, borrowing from its enemies, cannot guard its own door. That is the Endgame.

“We fight about spending, and immigration, and the Fed, and family policy as if they were six different arguments. They are one argument. Fix the root and every branch gets easier. Leave the root and every branch grows back.”

—Kevin D. Freeman, D.Sc. (h.c.), CFA

So the first national solution is not a policy tweak. It is a constitutional commitment to sound money that cannot be reversed by the next administration, the next crisis, or the next globalist institution. Gold and silver are the only money the Constitution explicitly authorizes, in Article I, Section 10. A gold standard is more than a monetary mechanism; it is a discipline. Government can only create money it can back. Remove that discipline and spending expands without limit, which is exactly what happened: from about $400 billion of federal debt in 1971 to over $40 trillion today.

“Put the discipline back, and you have not solved every problem. But you have taken the printing press away from the arsonists. That is not nostalgia. It is the foundation the four horsemen need to keep dismantled in order to finish their work.” —Kevin D. Freeman, D.Sc. (h.c.), CFA

Restoring that discipline is already underway. Pirate Money, state-authenticated gold and silver held in secure, state-approved depositories, is law in six states: Arkansas, Florida, Louisiana, Missouri, Texas, and Utah, with enabling legislation pending in up to 20 more. It is spent by debit card or electronic transfer, fully interoperable with the payment system Americans already use. It is protected from confiscation under state sovereignty, legally barred from social credit scoring, so your money cannot be restricted for your speech, your faith, or your behavior. It also carries an explicit opt-out from a central bank digital currency. When the next crisis is used to push programmable money as the answer, citizens in Pirate Money states will already have an alternative.

When Texas Republican primary voters were asked about it as Proposition 7 in March 2024, 76.5% said yes. Gold and silver became legal tender in Texas on September 1, 2026, and the Comptroller's transactional system is due by May 1, 2027. That is what implementation looks like: a date on a calendar, not a slogan on a sign. (Full disclosure: Kevin Freeman and his partners have invested in a company in this space, and disclose that on air. Track where each state stands at TransactionalGold.com.)

“A dollar that a third party can restrict is not a dollar you steward. It is a dollar you are permitted to hold temporarily.” –Art Ally, Founder and President, Timothy Plan

Pirate Money is the answer to that sentence. It is money you actually own. The states are one door into sound money; the second door is in Washington. Economist Judy Shelton, who was nominated to the Federal Reserve Board, has proposed a 50-year Treasury bond convertible into gold at maturity. Meanwhile, the United States still carries its gold on the books at $42.22 an ounce, a relic of 1973. At more than $4,000 an ounce, the market values that same gold at nearly 100 times its book value. The Four Horsemen of the American Apocalypse calls for three steps: audit the gold, revalue it honestly, and repatriate what is held abroad. Then make America the gold capital of the world. Shelton's federal proposal and the state-based approach are not competing ideas; they are the same argument, entered through two doors. Barron's concluded in October 2025 that gold is the answer to de-dollarization, and the way to answer the BRICS gold campaign is not to match it defensively but to get ahead of it.

“The BRICS nations have been buying gold for years to build a financial weapon against the dollar. If gold flows to America instead, through honest accounting in Washington and Pirate Money in the states, the weapon is blunted and the dollar’s long-term credibility is strengthened at the same time. Offense, not defense.”

—Kevin D. Freeman, D.Sc. (h.c.), CFA

One more prop holds up the dollar: energy. The petrodollar has frayed as Saudi Arabia negotiates oil deals in yuan, and the replacement is American energy dominance. If American energy is the world’s most reliable and best-priced option, the nations that buy it must hold dollars. When the Strait of Hormuz closed during the Iran war and Europe and Asia went looking for a reliable supplier, they found one here. Permitting, pipelines, and LNG export capacity are not just energy policy. They are dollar policy.

“Your grandparents carried the proof of all this in their wallets. A $20 Federal Reserve Note from before 1933 says, right on its face, redeemable in gold on demand. That was a promise from the government to the citizen. Every one of these solutions is about making that promise again.”

—Kevin D. Freeman, D.Sc. (h.c.), CFA

Attention: One root, six branches. Restore sound money at the constitutional level, and every other fight gets easier.

2. Six Trials, Six Fixes: The National Solutions Every Legislator Should Be Handed

Chapter 12 of The Four Horsemen of the American Apocalypse takes the six trials one at a time and lays out the national solution for each, with a numbered list of solutions and footnoted sourcing. It is written to be handed to a legislator. If a state representative, a county commissioner, or a member of Congress will read one chapter, this is the chapter.

Trial One, the Debt Bomb. The debt cannot be fixed without political courage, but the tools exist. Start with genuine entitlement reform: there is no path to solvency that avoids Social Security, Medicare, and Medicaid, and anyone who says otherwise is selling the Yellow Horse. The argument that fiscal discipline is politically impossible was answered in Argentina, where Javier Milei inherited the worst fiscal crisis in his nation's history and cut. The sky did not fall. Inflation did. Then install a real limit. The statutory debt ceiling has been raised 78 times; replace it with a debt-to-GDP limit, with narrow exceptions for declared war.

Deregulation belongs in the plan as a growth and revenue strategy, because the regulatory state is a debt driver of its own. Research has put the cost of excess federal regulation in the trillions of dollars of lost output. Every dollar of growth regulated away is a dollar of tax revenue that never arrives, and a dollar of debt that takes its place.

“Growth is not a substitute for cutting. But you cannot cut your way out of a hole while you are also strangling the economy that has to climb out of it.” –Kevin D. Freeman, D.Sc. (h.c.), CFA

Trial Two, the Dollar Under Attack, is answered by the measures above: gold capital of the world, fiscal discipline, and energy dominance. The dollar's reserve status must be defended through strength, not preserved through prayer.

Trial Three, Programmable Money. President Trump's executive order banning a CBDC was the right move. It is also not enough, because executive orders can be undone by the next executive. Watch the back door, too: stablecoin legislation has created the technical rails of a CBDC, programmability and instant settlement included, without the name. The prohibition must be permanent and constitutional, with Pirate Money in every state as the opt-out that makes the amendment enforceable in practice.

Trial Four, the Wealth Gap, was created by fiat money, cronyism, and big government, and it will not be closed by more of all three. Restore sound money and the Cantillon transfer stops: new money no longer flows first to those standing closest to the printing press. Reform fiduciary law so pension money is managed for returns, not for ESG politics. And open the private markets. The accredited-investor rules were written to protect ordinary Americans; in practice they protect the incumbents and wall families off from the markets where the real returns are earned.

Trial Five, Demographic Destiny. By the Institute for Family Studies' count, median home prices have gone from about 5 times a young adult's income in 1969 to more than 11 times today. Homeownership under 35 has fallen from half to under a third, and new apartments keep shrinking. Fix the money, then clear the zoning, permitting, and environmental-review barriers that keep starter homes from being built.

"Delayed marriage and suppressed birth rates are primarily an affordability problem, and affordability is a money problem. So measure every policy by one standard: does it make it easier or harder for a young couple to start a family?"

—Kevin D. Freeman, D.Sc. (h.c.), CFA

Trial Six, the Endgame. Enforce the law, defund the machine, secure the border, and protect the vote. Designate the Muslim Brotherhood and its affiliates for what their own documents say they are. Washington has started: a November 2025 executive order led to the designation of the Egyptian, Jordanian, and Lebanese branches in January 2026, and Texas named the Brotherhood and CAIR in November 2025. The unfinished work is the affiliates operating inside the United States. Respond to China's 2017 National Intelligence Law, which orders Chinese nationals to cooperate with their state's intelligence work wherever they are. Close the illegal CCP police stations operating on American soil. Fix the Motor Voter infrastructure that has made illegal-alien registration possible, and treat deliberate system overloading, the old Cloward-Piven strategy in a new form, as what it is.

"You cannot defend a house from invasion while handing the invaders a key to the ballot box. You cannot fix the Endgame with border policy alone, and you cannot fix the debt while the Yellow Horse is selling the country's future for foreign money."

—Kevin D. Freeman, D.Sc. (h.c.), CFA

Congresswoman Michele Bachmann, a member of the book's Council of Voices, sat on both the House Intelligence Committee and the Financial Services Committee. She found that the people tracking America's adversaries and the people tracking its money almost never spoke. That is why the book keeps the threat and the balance sheet on the same page.

Step back and look at the whole list, and the same few policies keep showing up: sound money, fiscal discipline, sovereignty, and enforcement of laws already on the books. That consistency is no accident. It is what happens when six fires were lit by four riders coming through one gate. So the book also takes on the horsemen directly. Against the Red Horse, the Chinese Communist Party: decouple the critical supply chains in pharmaceuticals, rare earths, semiconductors, and military hardware; prosecute economic espionage; require disclosure and divestiture of CCP-linked money in strategic industries; and leave no doubt about Taiwan's independence. Against the Green Horse, historical Islam: draw a hard line between a personal faith, which is protected, and a political religion running a foreign influence operation, which is not; restrict foreign government money flowing into American mosques, schools, and advocacy groups; and protect the right to speak the truth about Sharia supremacism and the right to leave Islam. Against the Blue Horse, globalist despotism: make clear that the WHO, the WEF, and the BIS are not in charge; refuse the UN's replacement-migration recommendations; defund ESG through fiduciary reform; and pass the CBDC prohibition.

“We watched the Blue Horse’s dress rehearsal in 2020: lockdowns, mandates, small businesses closed while the giants stayed open. The lesson of that year is that sovereignty is not an abstraction. It is whether your governor answers to you or to Geneva.” –Kevin D. Freeman, D.Sc. (h.c.), CFA

The Yellow Horse, our own traitors, cowards, and fools, requires the least new legislation and the most civic renovation. The laws against cronyism, revolving-door corruption, foreign lobbying, financial fraud, and election fraud already exist. What is missing is the will to enforce them, and will is the one resource an engaged citizenry can produce on demand. The Yellow Horse dies when enough Americans decide the republic is worth the inconvenience of showing up: school board meetings, primary elections, and an honest accounting of who their representatives actually serve.

“The horse that requires the least legislation is the one that requires the most of you. That is not a burden. It is the good news. It means the outcome is in reach of ordinary people who decide to show up.” –Kevin D. Freeman, D.Sc. (h.c.), CFA

Charlie Kirk made the same point in the Economic War Room studio. On paper, America is a constitutional republic; in practice, it is run like an oligarchy, a small group of unelected people calling the shots. The way to defeat an oligarchy is with the people.

“Every oligarchy has more subjects than masters. We outnumber them. That is not a slogan. It is simple arithmetic.” –Kevin D. Freeman, D.Sc. (h.c.), CFA

Attention: Six fires, four riders, one gate. The laws already exist; what is missing is the will to enforce them, and only citizens can supply it.

3. Three Institutions and One Verse: Building What Lasts for Our Children’s Children

Policy is only half of a national solution. The other half is institutions, because policies come and go with elections. The Four Horsemen of the American Apocalypse proposes three, and all three are open to join today.

The first is the NSIC Institute, the National Security Investment Consultant Institute, at NSIC.org. It educates financial advisors in economic warfare, because the financial side of the horsemen's strategy (the dollar attack, the CBDC architecture, the Cantillon transfer, and the weaponization of retirement money through ESG) requires financial advisors who understand what is actually happening. An NSIC-educated advisor understands Pirate Money, the risk in dollar-denominated assets, and the portfolio strategies that provide real protection. Multiply those advisors and you multiply the number of financial professionals working for their clients instead of against them. Advisors: look at the training. Clients: ask whether yours has it. Former Ohio Congressman Bob McEwen, a member of the Council of Voices, observes that vast areas of the globe drown in poverty because their leaders either do not understand how wealth is created or do not care. NSIC advisors close that gap one client at a time: free individuals create wealth, and governments only redistribute it.

The second is SCAN, the Saving Civilization Action Network, at SCANHQ.com. No government program and no legislative campaign survives without an organized, informed, persistent citizenry behind it, and SCAN connects those citizens to action at the local, state, and federal level. Charlie Kirk was a friend, and he asked Kevin Freeman to build SCAN as a project of the Economic War Room, aimed squarely at the Four Horsemen. The book's dedication page records that request, and that mission became the inspiration for the book itself.

"SCAN is not another email list. It is a network designed around the Four Horsemen framework, so that when a Pirate Money bill comes up in your legislature, or a CBDC back door shows up in a federal bill, or a foreign-funded project shows up in your county, the people who understand it are already connected and already moving."

—Kevin D. Freeman, D.Sc. (h.c.), CFA

Ambassador Ken Blackwell, another member of the Council of Voices, warns that when we look to the state as the author of our freedom, we surrender our inherent dignity.

“Human liberty and human rights are sacred gifts from God, not temporary grants from the government.” –The Honorable J. Kenneth Blackwell

That is why SCAN is not a government agency. It is a citizen voice speaking to government. The horsemen’s strategy is patience. Ours has to be persistence.

“Charlie asked for it. The book explains it. You build it by joining. When you register at SCANHQ.com, you are not just joining my list. You are finishing his sentence.”

–Kevin D. Freeman, D.Sc. (h.c.), CFA

The third is the Economic Justice Board, at EconomicJusticeBoard.com, inspired by Charlie Kirk and by Ryan Helfenbein at Liberty University. It is a permanent advisory voice at the presidential level that asks one question of every major economic decision: does this make America more affordable and more just for the next generation? It runs on a framework called A.R.K.: Affordability, Reward, and Kindness. Can a young family afford to live here? Is work rewarded, or do the well-connected get rich? And are we kind to the people who come after us?

“Ask those three questions of the last decade of policy and you have the whole indictment. Housing became unaffordable. Reward went to the well-connected. And the unkindness to the next generation was written into a $40 trillion IOU with their names on it.” –Kevin D. Freeman, D.Sc. (h.c.), CFA

The Economic Justice Board exists to put those questions in the room before the decision is made, not in the history books after. That last question is also the moral spine of the whole book. Proverbs 13:22 says a good man leaves an inheritance to his children’s children: not just his children, but his grandchildren. In 2 Kings 20, the prophet tells King Hezekiah that disaster will fall on his sons because of his choices, and Hezekiah answers that at least there will be peace and security in his own lifetime.

“Since 1971, Washington has governed like Hezekiah. Not in my lifetime. The bill goes to the kids. Sound money is an inheritance. A balanced budget is an inheritance. A secure border is an inheritance. A home a young couple can afford is an inheritance.”

—Kevin D. Freeman, D.Sc. (h.c.), CFA

The difference between Hezekiah and the good man is not resources. It is a decision, and decisions can be made this year. The generation that fought the Revolution faced the world's greatest empire with farmers and tradesmen. The generation that won World War II spent the 1930s in denial and then built the greatest mobilization in history when the moment required it. The horsemen are powerful, but the tools to answer every one of them already exist: in the Constitution, in the creativity of the American people, and in the record of what free markets, honest money, and self-government produce when they are allowed to work. None of it requires a new invention. It requires only the courage to act on what is already known.

General Boykin, a member of the Council of Voices, names what the national solutions finally depend on.

“This is not a strategic problem; it is a spiritual one. Men who only understand the first half will not have the courage required for the second.” —LTG (Ret.) William G. “Jerry” Boykin

“The national solutions exist. The constitutional authority exists. The public support exists. What happens next is a question of will. And will is the one thing every person watching has the power to provide.” —Kevin D. Freeman, D.Sc. (h.c.), CFA

Attention: Policies come and go with elections; institutions last. Join them now, and govern like the good man, not like Hezekiah.

ACTION STEPS:

1. Read The Four Horsemen of the American Apocalypse and Our Six Trials by Fire, mark Chapter 12, and hand it to one person in a position to act on it: a legislator, a county commissioner, a pastor, or a school board member.
2. Register at SCANHQ.com and EconomicJusticeBoard.com to join the network Charlie Kirk asked for and the board that asks whether policy is kind to the next generation.
3. Call your state representative and state senator about Pirate Money legislation. If your state is one of the six, ask about implementation dates. If not, ask when.
4. If you are a financial advisor, look at the training at NSIC.org. If you have an advisor, ask whether yours has it.
5. Know the ask in your state: gold and silver as legal tender through a state depository, a state-level prohibition on accepting or requiring a CBDC, state pension money managed for returns rather than ESG mandates, and zoning and permitting reform so starter homes can be built.
6. Know the ask in Washington: a constitutional prohibition on a CBDC, a close look at any stablecoin bill for back doors, an audit and honest revaluation of the U.S. gold reserve, and entitlement reform with a debt-to-GDP limit.
7. Vote on fiscal responsibility and constitutional principle, not on promised benefits, and vote in the primary.
8. Read Chapter 12, then read Chapter 13 before next week's Economic Battle Plan™, Fighting Back: Your House.

ONGOING ACTION STEPS:

1. Explore the Transactional Gold initiative to learn how state-authorized, vaulted gold and silver could function as spendable legal tender through modern payment systems. Learn about progress in your state at <https://transactionalgold.com/> and click the "Active States" button in the upper right-hand corner.
2. Get a copy of According to Plan to better understand these domestic attacks on our Liberty as well as the overall Marxist plan to consume America.
3. Seek opportunities to inspire other Americans to stand up for what is right.
4. Send them this Economic Battle Plan™ and ask them what they are doing to stand for America and Liberty!

- » Elect Politicians that understand the need to preserve American Liberty.
- » Encourage and ask your elected officials to educate themselves.
- » Ask them how they are working to strengthen our education system and reverse the push for Marxist indoctrination. These are big issues, if your representatives are not aware and working toward solutions directly or indirectly based on their committees, hold them accountable!

5. Check your investments to see if they are helping fund the agendas of Globalist Elites. If you have a financial advisor insist that they give you an update and encourage them to become part of the NSIC.

Seek out investment opportunities in patriotic innovations.
